While some may not expect it, the world of lighting fixtures is constantly evolving, From the bulb technology, to the distinct style of pieces, the world of lighting fixtures provides a world of options for interior design. We at City Lighting Products love to follow the new and interesting, as these pieces may be the next great fixture. Here are a few of our favorites we discovered this month.

Junit modular pendant lamp by Schneid

Junit is a modular pendant lamp that consists of 8 different elements. The very pure and clear units are turned from high-quality ash wood and painted in a German Workshop. They come in a natural, clear finish or each in a different color. The bulb complements the colorful lamp with its oversized, milky glass that produces warm, ambient light. To complete the individual look of the lamp, the user chooses from 8 different textile cable colors.

Stupa White pendant lights by Freshwest for Innermost

Stupa was first launched by innermost at Milan's Euroluce earlier this year. Now they are ready to introduce a new color, white, into the ambient range of pendant lights. Cast from resin, the individual pieces that make up Stupa are joined and hand finished individually on a lathe, then polished with beeswax.

B Bubble by B LIGHT

B Bubble by B LIGHT, leading producer of lighting devices, is a decorative suspended luminaire with a unique characteristic: an extraordinary combination of design and technology designed to be installed on ceilings or on a magnet track, thanks to its magnetic support.

D-TWELVE Lamp by Plato Design

The Rome based design startup Plato Design have just presented D-TWELVE Lamp, a modular, versatile and customizable handmade LED lamp, on Kickstarter. Facing the difficulty of personalizing what designers have drawn, the two Italian architects created a LED lighting system to suit people's need to find something unique and precious at the same time.
